To Whom It May Concern:

Back again, by popular demand! We would like to invite you to participate in a Technical Large Animal Emergency Rescue (TLAER) training program in 2012. The program will be conducted twice in Virginia: one in Henrico June 20-22 and a second in Middleburg June 25-27.

There are two levels of involvement. Participants will attend lectures and demonstrations, be involved in hands-on training, and will receive certification for program completion from TLAER. There will only be 30 participant slots per training. Payment must be made at the time of registration and slots will not be held in reserve. The fee for participants is $400.00 per person and includes three days and one evening of training, lunch on all three days and dinner before the evening session, the course book, and a t-shirt.

Auditors will observe all lectures, demonstrations, and the hands-on training sessions but will not participate in the hands-on segments. They will receive a certificate of awareness from TLAER. The fee for auditors is $150.00 for all three days and the evening session, including lunch on all three days and dinner before the evening session, but auditors must pay for their book and t-shirt separately. As with participants, payment must be received with the registration and before the deadline. There will be 30-50 auditor spaces available per training.

In 2012, continuing education (CE) credits will be earned by both participants and auditors. Animal Control Officers will earn credit through the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, and Emergency Medical Services personnel will earn credit through the Virginia Office of Emergency Medical Services. Participants will earn 24 credits while auditors will earn 12 credits. Bring your license or certificate numbers with you. Forms will be filled out at the end of the program.

Again, please note that payment must be received with the registration in order to secure your space in the program. E-mailed registrations will not be processed until payment is received. Spaces will not be held in reserve and payment issues will result in spaces being given to the next paying registrant. Upon receipt of registration and confirmation of payment, a participant packet with more information, including hotels in the area, equipment required or recommended, and a detailed agenda will be mailed to you. At this time we cannot accept credit card payments, so all fees must be paid by check or money order. Fees will not be refunded after May 15, 2012, however alternate personnel can be substituted if a registered participant or auditor cannot attend.
